BIG SHIPMENT OF BULLION
FROM THE TONOPAH BELMONT

Without allowing for any special gain in the value of the silver content, and, comparing it with previous shipments this year, the Tonopah Belmont sent out today one of the heaviest consignments of bullion that has been sent away from Tonopah. From the Tonopah mill 56 bars weighing 109,060 ounces were sent out, while from the Millers plant another 27 bars weighing 51,549 ounces were picked up. This total of 160,609 ounces is valued at $135,517.65 on the old appraisalment of 85 cents an ounce that has been continued since silver passed the 60 cent mark. It is apparent at a glance that the intrinsic value of the shipment is much more than these figures, as it is estimated that the joint gold and silver contents would represent more like a dollar an ounce.

VILLA'S MEN CUT UP
BY THE HEAVY GUNS
OF TREVINO'S TROOPS

(By Associated Press.)
EL PASO, Nov. 24.—A message received late this afternoon at Juarez states Villa had renewed his attack on Chihuahua at 9 o'clock this morning. An unconfirmed report says Trevino evacuated the city and is at Terrazas station, 25 miles north. General Gonzales, commander at Juarez, reports that Villa is wounded. That Villa's forces entered Chihuahua, he said, was absurd, as he declared Trevino was directing the fight.

No details of the second day's battle have been received and officials are watching the wires for news of General Murguia's approach.

The names of Carranza officers killed were deleted by the censor. Trevino sustained a scalp wound. He refused to retire and continued directing operations.

Military headquarters announced that Villa again was repulsed. The fighting was for possession of the first and second line of the government trenches. The Villistas were driven from their positions.

The bandits attacked from the south and southwest at daybreak. Their cavalry tried to rush into the city, but Trevino's cavalry repulsed them. Machine guns then opened and rolled back the bandits. Trevino later led an attack by the cavalry personally. The body of General Julie Acosta, one of Villa's principal commanders, was found on the battle field.

(By Associated Press.)
CHIHUAHUA CITY, Nov. 24.—As Villa's attack was expected on the two previous nights, the city had been placed in a complete state of defense. The nights were bitterly cold and all troops were awake and keen for a fight. The casualties were extremely heavy. The Villistas were exposed to trench fire during the assaults. Villa directed from a hill.

(By Associated Press.)
EL PASO, Nov. 24.—Americans here have information that the Villistas have reached the River Nombro de Dios, northeast of Chihuahua City. They claim that Villa is gaining ground. Yesterday's attack was a feint to draw the garrison in that direction so as to attack elsewhere. Five American families of Chihuahua started to leave, but changed their minds, fearing bandits would attack the train, and returned to their homes. Carranzistas deny that Trevino has left Chihuahua City.

(By Associated Press.)
JUAREZ, Mexico, Nov. 24.—Three times Villa attacked the first line trenches which defend Chihuahua City and three times he was repulsed, leaving his dead and wounded on the plains outside of the city to the south, according to military reports received by General Francisco Gonzales from the besieged city.

General Trevino repulsed a fourth massed attack by Villa forces late in the day, the bandits being driven from their temporary entrenchments with heavy losses. The de facto troops are now pursuing the bandits towards the south.

Villa withdrew his surviving forces in defeat from Chihuahua City at 6:15 o'clock last night after a battle of seven hours, during which he made four fruitless attempts to carry General Trevino's protecting works by assault.

One general, two colonels and 100 men of the Carranza forces were killed. Four hundred Villistas are known to have been killed and left on the field. All attempts to capture the city were repulsed sanguinarily. Richard Wisbrun, an American, said 1000 Carranzistas sent out Wednesday had joined the bandits.

At 10 o'clock in the morning the high crowned hats of the bandits were seen to the south along the LONDON, Nov. 24.—A wireless from Berlin contains a virtual disavowal that a German submarine sank the British steamer Britannic. The message says: "Inasmuch as the vessel bore the distinguishing marks of a hospital ship there naturally could be no question of a German submarine in connection with the sinking."

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Increasing frequency of attacks by German submarines upon American vessels or others bearing American citizens, with the consequent necessity of repeated inquiry at Berlin for facts, has led to the adoption of a policy of silence on the part of the state department. Officials let it be known today that such a course was considered necessary because most of the cases investigated developed no violation of international law and premature discussion was likely to stir up useless excitement in the United States.
